General Comment

Please do not take away my right to sell covered call options in my IRA. They provide needed income and they help to reduce the risk of my total portfolio. It does not make sense to take this option away from anyone, the worst thing that can happen is that you sell a covered call and the stock gets called so you do not participate in the additional increase. My experience has been that very rarely will you not get a chance to buy that stock again at a lower price if you wait.

Thanks,

Ken Brigham
